

TALES FROM INDIA

26 August, 2016 by ANASTASIA ONG

Miaja Gallery is bringing together a group of Indian artists to present an exhibition entitled 'Tales from India' from 31 August to 17 September 2016.

The artworks depict the daily lives led in modern and traditional India, with influences from ancient Indian philosophy and folklore. The collection of artworks is an imprint of the artists featured and inspired by each of their own personal journeys.

The Tyagi's Gyan Mudra Series

About the artist © Miaja Gallery : Artist Aashish Singh Tyagi produces the Tyagi's Gyan Mudra series which materialises all the Indian tales and philosophies that he grew up on. He felt an urge to design and collaborate with the local craftsmen that he met along his journeys through India, to create something beautiful and meaningful, and in his small way to help to conserve their crafts and heritage.

The Padhchinh Series

About the artist © Miaja Gallery : Animals have always inspired and enriched Artist Alpana Ahuja's life, almost being the fuel for her journey as an artist. Her current muse is the Indian elephant, and has been working with Wildlife SOS (India) to create a series of works called 'Padhchinh', created with the footprints of rescued elephants which carry the stories of their plight.
